AIRCRAFT BOARD TESTS A MOTOR FOR U. S. PLANES

Three Types of Machines Favored By Experts In Government Service

RELIABILITY AND POWER DEMANDED IN MOTORS

Seek to Produce Large Armored Battle Plane For Use In France

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, Aug. 24.—Tests of the first of the standardized United States airplane motors designed and built under the direction of the Aircraft Production Board, make it practically certain that American-made fighting machines will be available for service in France early next year. Results from several tests have been highly satisfactory. It is learned, although details of the design and performance of the engines are withheld.

Probably three distinct types of service craft for the army will be turned out. They will be the small, swift machines designed for air duels and to screen observation and bombing craft; daylight bombing machines slower than the fighting craft, but still fast enough to minimize the danger from anti-aircraft guns; and big enough to carry observers, photographic outfits, radio and bombs in addition to their guns, and the still slower night bombing machines in which carrying capacity is increased at the expense of speed because darkness protects them from gunfire.

The United States motor, it is understood, was not designed primarily for speed. Durability and reliability co-ordinated with a high ratio of power for each pound of engine weight, was the object of the American engineers who worked out the plans.

The first motor produced was employed exclusively as a model from which gauges and fixtures could be made so that numerous factories could be equipped to turn out great quantities of various parts of the engine. The progress of this element of the work indicates an early supply of the motors for service at the front.

Meanwhile, the engineers are making every effort to improve the design and incorporate new features. As rapidly as important improvements are developed they will be incorporated in subsequent motors. The same efforts toward quantity production being made each time the design is altered.

There are indications also that American engineers and military men are not satisfied to accept without question the verdict of the French and British air services as to the most satisfactory types of craft for fighting purposes. Many officials here believe that while the fighting machines that are winning

PORTUGUESE AID IN REPELLING ATTACK ON BELGIAN FRONT

(Associated Press Telegram)
British Front in France and Belgium, Aug. 24.—Heavy fighting proceeded throughout the night in the southwest edge of Lens for possession of the great slag heap known as the Green Crassier, from the crest of which the Canadians broke through late yesterday after having a foot on it all day.

The British this morning were continuing the battle from positions which they had seized immediately northwest of the Crassier and the Germans were making strenuous efforts to re-establish their shattered defenses on the top of this artificial hill.

The Canadians held the Crassier until late in the afternoon in the face of numerous bitter counter attacks by strong forces of the enemy. In each case hard hand to hand fighting with the bayonet resulted in the Germans being thrown back with severe losses.

Towards evening the Germans threw a great mass of men into the attack and the Canadians fell back slightly to positions adjoining the Crassier. Sanguinary fighting has continued since then.

The Germans during the night turned their attention to the Portuguese allies north of La Bassée and attempted two raids against Portuguese trenches but each time they were driven off by the alert defenders.

North of Ypres the situation virtually is unchanged. The British have improved their positions in several places and have successfully withstood a number of counter attacks. The Germans shelled this section of the British front heavily during the night.

Garfield In Charge of the Coal Output

President Wilson last night announced the appointment of D. Harry A. Garfield head of the coal administration. He will assume his duties as soon as he has finished the work of fixing wheat prices.

MICHAELIS QUICK TO EXPLAIN WORDS; CALLS CONFERENCE

(Associated Press Telegram)
Berlin, Aug. 23, via London, Aug. 24.—Berlin was surprised to learn on awakening this morning that the Reichstag building yesterday afternoon had been the scene of a political flurry, which assumed varying proportions as seen through partisan editorial eyeglasses.

The incident which brought about the temporary disagreement between the majority coalition and the chancellor was the chancellor's somewhat indefinite phrasing of his attitude toward the Reichstag peace proposal. The impression created was that Dr. Michaelis was circumscribing his endorsement of that action.

During Wednesday's intermission for luncheon the majority party drew up a statement to the effect that there could be no doubt respecting the chancellor's acquiescence in the coalition peace views. The presentation of this declaration at the afternoon session drew forth a second statement from the chancellor, in which he definitely corrected any false impression that might have been created by his utterances at the morning session.

Under stress of this tension the main committee adjourned its sitting. The chancellor received the party leaders late Wednesday night for the purpose of holding a confidential conference.

The known episode which became the unexpected episode which became the subject of the main committee's deliberations, today gives a section of the press occasion to dilate upon the incident in columns of plain-spoken comment in which the chancellor fares rather badly.

When the committee resumed its session this morning a number of the Progressive People's Party, speaking for the majority coalition, explained that the chancellor's supplementary statement had cleared up the misunderstanding and that the joint declaration of the majority party would have been modified or entirely dispensed with if the correcting explanation offered by Michaelis could have been anticipated.

GOVERNMENT PLANS 8 MILLION TONS OF NEW SHIPS SOON

Washington, Aug. 24.—The government's ship building program calls for a total of 1270 ships of 7,968,000 tonnage, it was revealed today in estimates the shipping board has sent to Secretary McAdoo on which to base a request for a new billion dollar appropriation.

This is in addition to nearly two million tons of shipping now building in American yards, which has been commandeered by the emergency fleet corporation. A large part of the government fleet and of the commandeered fleet will have been completed by the end of the fiscal year, June 30, 1918. Building, commandeering and purchase of vessels will total about two billion dollars.

DR. MICHAELIS CONFERS WITH REICHSTAG LEADERS

London, Aug. 24.—A Berlin dispatch received via Copenhagen says it is understood that Dr. Michaelis, the German imperial chancellor and various parties in the Reichstag are negotiating with a view to summoning their leading representatives to a conference for the consideration of important questions.

Berlin, Aug. 24, via London.—The evacuation by the Germans of Hill 304, the famous stronghold on the Verdun front, is announced by the war office. It is said a weak garrison was left there.

(Associated Press Telegram)
New York, Aug. 24.—In a brilliant attack this morning on the Verdun front the French carried Hill 304, one of the most bitterly disputed positions of the war, in the struggle for which thousands of men have lost their lives. The French advanced to an average depth of 1 1/4 miles over the sector between Avocourt Wood and Dead Man Hill. Paris announces officially, and in addition to Hill 304, stormed the fortified works between Haucourt and Bethincourt.

WILSON MAY SPEAK BEFORE CONGRESS ON REPLY TO POPE

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, Aug. 24.—President Wilson may decide to address congress on peace at the same time he makes reply to Pope Benedict's proposals. In that way he would take the national legislative body into his confidence and at the same time not only inform the country on the question but also enable members of congress to carry the government's views home to the people when congress adjourns.

No indications of the President's plans had come from the White House today but the possibility of his discussing the subject before congress in this way and consequently before the nation, was being considered at the capitol as a probability.

It is understood that the President will have before him very soon the substance of the replies Great Britain and France will make to the pope. No one has been authorized to say what reply President Wilson will make to the pope's proposal, further than that it will be in harmony with the responses of the other allies. It seems to be generally accepted in official and diplomatic circles that the pope's proposal cannot be accepted. Indeed, there have been indications from the Vatican that Pope Benedict did not expect it would be accepted but addressed the belligerents with the purpose of building the groundwork for another discussion later on.

The unofficial forecast of what the President will say if he speaks is that Pope Benedict's proposal contains nothing on which to proceed and that a discussion of peace terms can best be approached by Germany stating heres as the allies have done.

LUMBER MILL BURNS; START INVESTIGATION

LEADER OF GERMAN CATHOLICS SAID TO FAVOR THE POPE'S PEACE PROGRAM

In European capitals Matthias Erzberger, head of the Catholic Centre party in the Reichstag, is believed to have been a most important factor in causing the pope's peace proposal. The pope's program is said to be very satisfactory to the Catholics and many others in Germany. The attitude of Karl Helfferich, German secretary of state, who is here shown in conference with Erzberger, has not been defined.

AMERICAN VESSEL VICTOR OVER SUB SUNK BY ACCIDENT

(Associated Press Telegram)
An Atlantic Port, Aug. 24.—The Standard Oil tank steamship Navajo, destroyed by fire at sea on August 15, while homeward bound, had an encounter on her trip over with a submarine and sank the enemy vessel with her guns after a four battle, according to members of the crew of 27, who arrived here today on an American steamer. The destruction of the Navajo was caused by the explosion of a fuel pipe.

The Navajo had three separate encounters with the submarine before she sank her. One of the officers said she first met the German craft off the Irish coast and drove her off. The next day firing was heard and a large sailing vessel appeared pursued by what those on the Navajo identified as the same U-boat.

The German sank the sailing vessel and then engaged the Navajo for a second time until a British hydro-airplane appeared and the U-boat submerged.

A fox settled down and the airplane returned to shore. When the fog lifted the U-boat was found still lurking near and the third engagement ensued. The tanker was damaged in the stern, but in turn registered a hit "squarely beneath the U-boat's periscope. The officer described her as sinking stern first.

The Navajo proceeded to France for repairs. When she caught fire on the return trip, the crew was rescued and landed at an Irish port.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, Aug. 24.—The negro troops engaged in the rioting at Houston, Texas, will be withdrawn from Texas, immediately, Secretary Baker told Senator Sheppard of Texas.

Later Secretary Baker, after reading first official reports announced that he could take no action of any kind until the affair had been investigated fully.

Secretary Baker also said that the Houston affair did not affect the policy of training negro troops in the south. It is within the jurisdiction of the commander of the southern department to move the troops to any other point in his territory without orders from Washington.

Reports from Major General Parker, commanding the southern division, said the situation was under control and that no further rioting was feared. The secretary did not indicate to Senator Sheppard when the negro troops would be sent or what troops would be substituted to carry on construction work at the cantonment site.

Secretary Baker did not say whether the withdrawal of the Twenty-Fourth Infantry detachment from Texas forecast a new policy which would keep negro troops out of southern states. Senator Sheppard said he would ask that no negro troops except those of Texas origin be sent into Texas for training.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Houston, Texas, Aug. 24.—As a result of the riot of negro soldiers of the Twenty-Fourth United States Infantry last night the entire city of Houston and its environs are under martial law today. General John A. Hulett is in command as provost marshal. A revised list shows 17 men dead. Eighteen men were wounded.

Captain Mattes, Illinois National Guard officer, who was slain by the negroes, was mutilated almost beyond recognition. Feeling among the Illinois troops is running high and regulars from Fort Crockett at Galveston have been rushed here.

Orders have been given to soldiers to watch all incoming trains and not to permit armed men to enter the city. A report shortly after midnight said that armed men were likely to flock into Houston from some of the adjoining counties. It was decided that this should not be permitted.

When the 300 or more regulars arrived from Galveston some of them were detailed to go to Camp Logan. Others were assigned to duty in the city. Two soldiers were detailed to each street car in the city and two more were detailed to each street corner in the downtown section. Orders were given to prevent the assembling of citizens on the streets.

City and county officers are co-operating with the following the instructions of the military officers and it is officially stated that the situation is so well under control that unless crowds are permitted to assemble there will be no further trouble.

Among the dead is a negro sergeant, Vida Henry, believed to have been the ring leader in the uprising. Henry's body, riddled with buckshot was found a quarter of a mile from the camp limits.

Horace Moody, one of the wounded police officers, who suffered an amputation of the leg, died this morning at the hospital. E. J. Meinkens, another police officer, is the fifteenth victim reported found.

The following orders and warnings were issued today:

"All citizens will remain in their homes or usual places of business at once."

"No citizen nor an officer will appear on the streets with arms."

"Parties will not assemble on the streets."

"Saloons will not be permitted to open."

"Places of business where arms and ammunition are sold, kept or stored will remain closed."

(Signed) "HULETT."

Acting Mayor D. M. Moody, of Houston, issued the following statement:

"I call upon every citizen of Houston, white and colored, to preserve the peace, to go quietly about his business, and to rest assured that there is going to be full inquiry and proper punishment for the crimes which have been committed."

"It is time for coolness and for careful avoidance for further trouble."

"It is no time for further excitement."

"The city is under martial law, a condition which is most regrettable; but it is necessary.

"There will be no further trouble if every citizen will carefully see to his own conduct."

"Incendiary speech is of no avail. The situation is well in hand, unless there be studied effort to cause more trouble."

The killing of Capt. Joseph W. Mattes of the Illinois Second Field Artillery, was accompanied by extreme cruelty, according to early reports.

Wounded by a rifle bullet, Captain Mattes was surrounded by the riotous soldiers, riddled with buckshot, and his body hacked and stabbed in many places with bayonets. The body was almost unrecognizable.

W. A. Wise, a mechanic employed at Camp Logan, while trying to save an unknown wounded man, was shot three times in the left arm and once in the back. Wise said:

"I heard shooting and at Brundage avenue a man, whose name I never learned, fell, apparently dying, in the street. Blood was rushing from his breast. I rushed to his assistance and called on an automobile driver and others for help. While we were trying to place the dying man in the car bullets spattered all about us and the men who were helping me fled."

"We have been laying here like dogs—not knowing what to do," said Ed Fuchs, half brother to Alma Reichert, a 15-year-old girl, who was shot early in the riot.

"The store was closed when the negro soldiers passed and we were frightened when the shooting began. Alma had run in from the sidewalk. She was shot in the stomach."

At the home of Mrs. Mary Winkler, 4916 Lillian street, was enacted one of the most brutal incidents of the night. When the rioting soldiers passed her son, Fred Winkler, and William J. Drucks stepped to the front porch to see what provoked the loud talking. Winkler was shot in the head, light and Drucks got as far as the steps when a bullet penetrated the heart of Winkler, and the right arm of Drucks was shattered at the wrist and above the elbow.

For hours the Winkler family remained in darkness while Drucks lay upon the bed bleeding, and the body of young Winkler remained on the porch.

17 DEAD AFTER NIGHT RIOTING IN HOUSTON BY COLORED SOLDIERS

here awaiting entraining orders to go to Camp Bowie were quickly mobilized by their officers without arms and their officers quickly mobilized the men at armories and had them under restraint in one case behind locked iron gates, to prevent their being uselessly sacrificed before the guns of the negro militiamen.

The negro guardsmen from Illinois who took no part in the disturbance, were held to quarters and special precautions were taken to prevent an outbreak.

Three companies of coast artillery regulars from Fort Crockett, reinforced the 1000 or more Illinois guardsmen today and order which was restored early this morning is being maintained. Roll-call this morning by Major Snow, in command of the battalion of negroes, developed 125 men were absent. Eighteen of these have surrendered, and others are being rounded up by the military patrols as the search of the negro district progresses.

Under military law, it was stated, soldiers may be shot for having rioted and fired on their officers.

The shooting was the result of an outbreak of 150 negroes of the 24th United States Infantry who last night left their quarters at Camp Logan, near here, began to fire their guns promiscuously and for several hours terrorized the residents of the community.

Martial law was proclaimed by Governor James E. Ferguson, effective in Houston and vicinity and early today the military authorities had the situation under control although seventy of the negro soldiers were still missing.

The trouble is said to have started after some of the negro soldiers had complained of treatment accorded them by members of the Houston police force. About nine o'clock some eighty negroes, later being joined by others formed at their camps and began a march toward downtown Houston. Lights in residences along the way were shot out and a number of persons were wounded as they sat inside their homes.

Major L. S. Snow, commanding the negro troops guarding Camp Logan declared that he attempted to control the men when he saw what was about to happen, "but they were beyond control and some 150 of them started to shoot promiscuously in the camp and soon scattered in every direction."

An attempt was made to kill Major Snow, he declared.

According to police reports, the origin of the trouble was the arrest of a negro woman in a downtown section. A negro soldier asked that the prisoner be turned over to him and a refusal led to an argument, the soldier finally being taken to police headquarters.

A little later another negro soldier approached the policeman and asked concerning the first man. When told that the negro was at headquarters more words followed and this negro also was sent to headquarters.

Previously the negroes had reported the happening to their officers. A conference followed between police Superintendent Brock and army officers, which led to an order being issued to the effect that the negro troops are to be called "colored" by members of the police department.

Evidence of the brewing riot became apparent in the evening and Major Snow, in command of the troops, received word that the negroes had entered the ammunition tents and armed themselves.

He attempted to quell the negroes but they were already beyond control and had begun to shoot at random while marching toward the city.

It was not until the negroes reached the Reichert Store at Washington Avenue and Sandman Road that the taking of life began. Alma Reichert, 15 years old, the first victim, was shot by a stray bullet, it is believed as she had sought safety in her father's store.

It was a block further south, as the negroes turned in that direction on the Sandman Road, that Fred Winkler was killed and W. J. Drucks, seriously injured.

Sixteen truck loads of federalized national guardsmen were rushed to the seat of the trouble, and all the streets were put under heavy patrol. More than 100 armed negroes were said to have hid under buildings in the vicinity of West End baseball park and with their high powered army rifles, pursued sniping tactics for a time.

Among those killed was Captain J. W. Mattes, Battery A, 2nd Illinois Field Artillery, who arrived here a few days ago to prepare the camp for the regiment which is still in Chicago. He was shot to death while trying to quiet the negro soldiers who were firing on soldiers and civilians.

He was badly mutilated, his right arm being cut off and his scalp almost torn away.

After the troops rounded up the negroes it was found about seventy of the riotous men were missing.

The dead:

Ira D. Rainey, mounted police officer.

Rufe Daniels, mounted police officer.

Middle aged man named Smith.

S. Satton, barber.

Captain J. W. Mattes, Battery A, 2nd Illinois Field Artillery.

E. J. Mehnke, mounted police officer.

Earl Finley.

A. R. Carstens, painter.

Manuel Garredo.

Fred E. Winkler.

Bryant Watson, negro soldier Company K, 24th Infantry.

M. D. Everton, member of a local artillery battery.

C. W. Wright.

The wounded:

Wm. J. Drucks, condition critical.

W. H. Burkett, shot in left leg, serious.

E. A. Thompson, of Hempstead, shot in head.

D. R. Patton, mounted police officer, six bullet wounds in hip, thigh, leg and shoulder.

Samuel Foreman, of Livingston, Company F, Fifth Texas Infantry, shot in leg.

James Edwin Lyon, shot in leg and arm.

Unidentified negro soldier, shot through abdomen.

Unidentified negro soldier, shot in leg.

G. W. Butcher, shot in chest.

W. A. Thompson, shot through right hip; condition serious.

Victory Detective T. A. Binford, shot in knee.

Alma Reichert, white girl, shot in stomach.

George Beavens, negro soldier, wounded in leg.

That the list of the dead and wounded would grow as the day light search progressed, seemed certain.

The dead police officers were among the first to reach the rioting negroes. Rufe Daniels helped to make the arrests yesterday that led directly to the riot.

Officers Daniels and Rainey were killed and Moody, Wilson and Patton were wounded a considerable time after the outbreak started.

Patton and Long were mounted and Moody, Carson, Carter and Driver and I were in an automobile GAL 2 HOUSTON RIOT slightly behind them," said Desk Sergeant Wilson. "At the corner of San Felipe and Wilson, we suddenly met them—there must have been at least 50 of them. They opened fire without warning and Patton was shot through the arm and Long's horse was killed. The officers threw themselves to the ground and opened fire. Then the negroes dodged around the corner and when Rufe Daniels went to the corner they opened fire on him.

"He killed one negro but they shot him several times as he lay on the ground. He took to cover and returned the fire. Moody's leg was broken and Patton was shot through the leg and I got a slight wound in the leg."

Company G, Eighth Illinois Infantry, was not involved in this trouble in any way. They were kept in their camp by their officers and not one of them was seen on the camp streets.

Congressman J. H. Eagle of Texas listened to all the reports which came in and today sent this telegram: "Secretary of War, "Washington, D. C. "Houston, Texas, Midnight, Thursday, August 23: "As congressman from this district I report Death and wounding of several persons, result of sending negro soldiers here. Without stating who is to blame, it is clearly a race riot and is a tragedy sufficient to compel the statement that it is a tragic blunder to send negro troops to southern camps. I protest vigorously against the Illinois negro soldiers ordered to Houston being sent. By all means order them to northern training camps and promptly order the negro troops who are already here sent elsewhere. (Signed) "JOE H. EAGLE."

As the result of the rioting Houston and its environs are today under martial law with Brigadier General John A. Hulen in command. This action was taken by Governor Ferguson upon request of Acting Mayor D. M. Moody about 12:30 this morning, and later was followed by an order by Major General James Parker naming General Hulen as the officer in command. General Hulen at once gave orders for the dispersing of crowds who still thronged the streets at that hour, for the prompt arrest of such of the negro soldiers as were not in camp under guard, and for the closing of all saloons and drinking places until such time as he may direct.

C. W. Hahl was shot at repeatedly as he lay prone with a wounded policeman at his side. The officer was shot a second time but Mr. Hahl was only "burned" by a bullet across the back.

"I saw one policeman drop and a mounted officer's horse fall," said Hahl. "Being unarmed, I got behind the car and then dodged to the shadow of a building on the corner. There was a policeman already there shot in his gun arm and disabled.

"The negroes deliberately shot down every white man in sight. Then they came on up the street toward us. They were walking and shooting coolly and with deliberation, halting to take aim.

"We flattened ourselves on the ground next to the building in the shadow. When they spied us, they halted. I heard the bolts of the rifles click back and decided that we were both dead men.

"They must have fired 100 shots at us. One bullet grazed my back burning me painfully. They went on, leaving us for dead.

"When they had gone on we found a stalled car on the sidewalk. In it were two dead men, an army officer and a policeman.

Major Snow, commanding the battalion of negroes, stated that the bitter feeling among men of his command had been increased since they were sent here from Deming, N. M., three weeks ago. He said:

"Thursday morning a Houston police officer arrested a negro woman and in doing so, I am informed slapped her face. A soldier of the 24th, who had been drinking, remonstrated with the patrolman for what he considered his unnecessary violence in striking her. The officer then began beating the soldier with his pistol.

"The man's face and head were badly cut by the pistol butt. He was arrested by the same officer and taken to the station where he is now held.

"Thursday afternoon, according to reports made to me by Corpora Baltimore, of my military police force, a soldier of my command was arrested by an officer, Corporal Baltimore, who was nearby, wearing his military police badge, asked the policeman, purely for information, he says, why the man was arrested.

"The policeman told him it was none of his business. He then, Corporal Baltimore and the arrested soldier both state, hit Baltimore over the head with his pistol butt. Corporal Baltimore ran up the street, the policeman firing at him as he fled. He took refuge in a house under a bed. The policeman followed, dragged him out, used further abusive language to him and struck him twice more with the pistol.

"When the men in camp heard of these occurrences Thursday afternoon it excited them greatly and they made open threats of retaliation.

General Hulen has a considerable force in the city and has been reinforced with 350 coast guardsmen from Galveston who have five machine guns. General Hulen believes he has the situation well in hand and that there is small prospect of trouble. He placed guards at every gun store in the city, displaced the negro soldiers guarding Camp Logan with his own men and has declared that there is to be no discrimination in arresting armed men.

LIKE BROWNSVILLE AFFAIR. (Associated Press Telegram) Washington, Aug. 24.—Official reports of the troop rioting at Houston began arriving at the war department early today and were hurried to Secretary Baker as fast as they came in. They were coming from the commanding general of the southern department, whose investigation possibly may be supplemented by a special inquiry by the inspector general of the army as the affair is regarded as most serious, particularly in view of the fact that the negro troops concerned were regulars and not national guardsmen or drafted troops new to regular army discipline.

The similarity of the occurrence to the celebrated Brownsville rioting, as the result of which President Roosevelt summarily dismissed two battalions of negro troops is marked, officials indicate that the affair will be investigated just as thoroughly and dealt with as vigorously as its nature demands. They realize that it accentuates the delicate question of mobilizing negro troops in the south against which protests have been coming from the state and which has confronted the war department with a very embarrassing situation.

fame for individual aviators are spectacular and therefore have a strong hold on the aviation personnel, they are not the most efficient fighting craft. They carry one man and one machine gun. They are all engine and every other consideration has been disregarded for speed.

The machines make as much as 130 miles an hour, while the observation machines which spot artillery fire are rated at little more than 100 miles and the big bombing machines are even slower.

It is pointed out that naval development has tended toward big ships. The superdreadnaught is still the master of the surface of the sea, despite the submarine. No over surface vessel, whatever its speed or the size of its guns, can stand before the combined armor and armament of the battleship.

Presumably, the same thing would be true in the air. If a machine could be built that could carry many guns and light armor, it could disregard the fighting craft of the present, beating them off with its greater guns and proceeding on its way without regard to the wasps of the air.

Efforts have been made in Europe to produce battleplanes on this scale. So far, apparently, they have not been successful for various mechanical reasons. This has not discouraged American designers, however, to hope that a way will be found to combine in one ship such offensive and defensive power, together with all the equipment of observation and bombing machines that would displace the swift fighters of today and put them in the category of scouts.

SOLDIERS' MEDALS

Editor of the Advocate:—By this letter, I desire to acknowledge the receipt of the medal presented me by the people of Licking county. As a crisis always makes manifest one's real friends, so has this world catastrophe made one feel that he has "friends back home." In receiving this token of your esteem for my service I desire to express my sincere thanks and at the same time conduct myself in a way deserving of this honor. In recognizing me as one from Licking county I feel I have a duty to perform—to truly represent the big hearts and willing hands left behind. You expect great things of us and I pledge my word that I will do my best not to disappoint you.

In these past, Licking county responded to the call and our boys performed deeds that will inspire the hearts of all. Again I feel I have a heritage, a proud name, to defend and I trust my name will never disgrace such a proud memory.

We have been moved from Camp Korb to the asylum for the deaf and dumb, located on the corner of Town and Washington avenue. We have very comfortable quarters and have use of all the modern conveniences. We have a period of drill in the morning and in the afternoon we have school hour in which we get instructions about military courtesy, such as signaling and care to driving our trucks. Our company does guard duty once in 12 days and we are scheduled for Friday of this week. Every evening we can go to town unless on duty or prevented by serving sentence for some offense to military customs. The men of his company are congenial and are enjoying a splendid fellowship of clean men. We have received most of our equipment, the latest being our rifles.

Again thanking you for the honor you place on me and conscious of the heritage I have pledged myself to defend, I beg to remain one of your loyal sons.

Vincent J. Roll, Am Motor Truck Co. No. 5, Art. Am Train, Camp Jones, Columbus. Care Lieut. Ivan L. Ewing.

Editor of the Advocate:—I received your medal and am surely proud of it. I put a chain on it and put it around my neck and I will carry it as long as I am able to carry it. I surely thank all of the people of Licking county for their kindness to their boys and send them a medal to still think that the Licking county people are still behind their boys and will do their very best for them. I am proud to think that. That makes me feel better, so when I get back I can say that the people of Licking county thought of the boys when they were off to be brave soldiers for Uncle Sam. The Licking county boys are all willing to stand for their country and if necessary they will lose their lives for the dear old Flag of Liberty and Freedom. I surely thank you all for your medal and will stand by my country and for dear old Licking county, yours truly, Abraham T. Betts, 1 O. F. A., Bat. C, Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind.

ADD SOLDIERS' MEDALS
Editor of the Advocate:—The following Licking county men in the first section, First Ohio Field Artillery, hereby acknowledge receipt of our identification medals. While they serve the practical purpose of identifying us, still we consider them more as a precious decoration which as time rolls on will increase in value.

Together with our record, they will show that we stepped out freely to give our all—no more or no less than have those of other generations, when the country saw fit to strike a blow at tyranny.

Frankly, and with all due regard to the courageous of every section of the country, we believe they will mark soldiers inferior to none, and capable of taking the part assigned in such a manner as to reflect credit on the community from which we have gone forth as representatives.

Thomas A. Feeney, Leo J. Feeney, T. E. Smalles, E. A. Saltz.

Editor of the Advocate:—I wish to thank you and the people of Newark and Licking county for the token of remembrance which I received this morning and appreciate very much. I remain yours, John Kuster, Columbus, O.

Editor of the Advocate:—Through the columns of your paper I wish to thank yourself and the people of Licking county for the medal, which I received yesterday. I surely will think of the people back home whenever I look at it. Yours very truly, Fred W. Simpson, Truck Co. No. 5, S. A. A. Train, Columbus, O.

Editor of the Advocate:—I received the medal sent me from the people of Licking county and feel myself honored to receive such a token of appreciation from home. I think that the man that won't fight for this great country of ours that claims it as his home is not deserving of the name of a man, if he is in position that he can go. We are all getting set now for real training as we received rifles on the 22nd of this month.

I would greatly appreciate it if some one would send us over an Advocate so we could get the news from the home-town once in a while. We just received news that the "ghost would walk" this afternoon, which is some news, believe me. Geo. A. Wollever of Vanatta, is entitled to a medal. Yours truly, James Plummer, Co. B, Military Police, Camp Kark, Columbus, O.

feeling fine and are all ready to do our bit willingly.

This act of kindness from our good old Licking county will always be remembered by one and all of us. I think Licking county leads all others and am proud to be from there. Thanking you again, I am Leonard S. Amore (Pataskala), Camp Perry, O.

Editor of the Advocate:—Through the columns of your paper I wish to thank the people of Newark and Licking county for the little remembrance for my services in the army. Although I leave many loved ones and friends behind, am coming back to them when it is all over. I remain, Dyke W. Steinman, Truck Co. No. 5, A. A. A. Train, Camp Jones.

Editor of the Advocate:—I here with take great pleasure in thanking you for the great honor bestowed upon me in presenting me with one of your valued medals which I received intact.

It is a handsome work of art and an object which will be of priceless value in years after the present war. I also wish to thank the people of Licking county who so patriotically contributed to a fund to show their appreciation to the sons of Licking county who have joined the colors to fight for democracy.

I will now close, wishing The Advocate much success in years to come. Sincerely yours, Leslie Merryman, U. S. S. Montgomery, Norfolk, Va.

Save Money Now On Hudson Super-Six

Many former $1200 to $1400 Cars Now Cost About as Much as a Hudson Super-Six.

Price has always been a fairly accurate index of quality. But just now, because of the headlong rising of material costs, price is not a true indication of value. Fifty-one cars have been forced to advance prices 20% to 25%.

The present supply of Hudson Super-Sixes is built from materials contracted last year. Since then material costs have almost doubled. When that supply of materials is exhausted, then, Hudsons, too, must cost more. By prompt buying you can save the difference between what a Hudson Super-Six now costs and what it must certainly have to cost when its price is influenced by the present material market.

When former cheaper cars could be bought at $200 to $300 less than the Super-Six, no two of them had sales equal to those of the Hudson. That shows how popular the Super-Six has always been as compared to other cars. It is easy to imagine how much more popular it will be now that there is no such price advantage. The Hudson Super-Six has made itself the wanted car as compared with others.

It is the largest selling fine car. Almost 40,000 are in daily use. It has established itself as the life-time car.

The Price of Peace Is Prussianism Destroyed

"There can be no peace until Prussianism is destroyed," says the New York World, in answer to the Pope's peace proposal. "Whether it is destroyed from without or from within rests mainly with the German people themselves, but destroyed it must be if there is to be peace in the world. That is now the beginning and the end of the war aims of the Allies, and unless achieved, autocracy has triumphed and German militarism is master of civilization."

"Germany must be beaten and know she is beaten," says the Louisville Post. And the Chicago Herald warns us that a peace on the Pope's terms "would be a truce not a peace."

Not only do strong supporters of the war dismiss the "Pope's Peace" as a German peace, while they urge strenuous waging of war till Germany is made either "powerless or free," but pacifists, Socialists and German-Americans agree in predicting the failure of the new papal efforts at mediation.

In THE LITERARY DIGEST of August 25th is an interesting article reflecting the opinion of the Press of the country on this newest of the peace proposals.

CLOTHING.

Wool is scarce, cotton is high and in demand for munitions, and anyone can see the finish of the man with a family of children to clothe. The textile manufacturers all predict high prices, in which the advancing cost of labor will figure. It is time for the people to watch the newspapers for bargains and stock up. There are always chances for special reasons to buy at a discount, and the newspaper is the place where the merchants tell about them.

Working people will, of course, depend more than ever on strong and comparatively inexpensive clothes made for working purposes. Many a man will wear overalls and khaki at his work who felt just a bit too proud to put them on before. A good suit will wear a long time if it is carefully mended and worn only when it is really needed. It rarely pays to buy cheap clothes. Real wool and cotton wear none too well, and the man who cares for them can make them economical.

Many men who formerly had custom-made clothes set around it now by buying ready-made. They may think they are swallowing their pride a bit, but after they get a good ready-made suit they are surprised to see how the modern manufacturers' eccentricities of figure.

A good many business men feel that to carry off their position, they must be well-dressed at all times. At the first sign of wear, they discard their clothes and order new. When a man gets up to a certain point of income he cannot afford to use with weapons. The great majority of us don't belong to this class. Our income depends solely on whether we deliver the goods or not.

To get any economies out of a family of children is another proposition. Public sentiment seems to require them to look pretty scrumptious when they are introduced to the school-room. Like most economies, it all comes back on mother, who is always washing and scrubbing overtime to make the old things look decent.

WAR AND BAD BOYS.

War always creates social disturbance even a just war like the present one of ours. The talk and pictures of killing incite loose minds to rough acts. So the Chicago Juvenile Protective Association reports a 50 per cent increase in complaints of delinquent children.

These youngsters must be made to realize that a war period is not one of lax restraints. It is just the opposite, a period of discipline when people submit to strict military rule to make themselves united and powerful. The boys must straighten up physically and morally and behave like soldiers.

A good sentence for such offenders would be to compel the youngsters to join the Boy Scouts. It is much more effective to put a bad boy in a uniform than to put him in a jail. With a case of surplus canvas. Give them some useful task to do, and give them the military organization, and they may turn into the very best kind of boys.

PEACE IS ON THE WAY.

(Columbus Dispatch.) We do not know when it will arrive, but peace is on the way. It may come this winter, or it may not come for many winters, but one cannot read the daily reports of the contest as it progresses without knowing that peace is on the way—and the right kind of peace, the peace we are praying for. There can be no doubt but Germany is being hammered to her senses every day.

Germany is making no gains in any field, and our allies are making gains in every field save in the East, where the disorganized Russians are still unable to cope with the Germans. But even in that field Germany is growing weaker without gaining a victory that will do her any good.

We are gaining the mastery of the air. We are driving the Germans from their strongest entrenchments. We are killing and capturing them by the tens of thousands. And we are holding them in the submarine campaign. We are wearing them away as surely as the ocean wears away the clay embankment which it attacks. Not since the beginning of the world have things in general been so hopeful for the allies.

It is all a question of time—and time is running against Germany; not with her. Her hope of winning the war lay in the suddenness of her attacks. She was prepared for war and the rest of the world was not. She had but one chance to win—the first six months. She has had no chance since that time, and carry a heavy burden the struggle to a more decisive end.

Germany is to have not a moment's rest until the end of the war. That is made evident by the activities now taking place. She must use her munitions every hour in the day. She must keep her armies supplied after the tremendous expenditure she is compelled to make. She cannot rest for a moment and thus accumulate supplies for a grand stroke. She cannot stop on any front, and no nation in the world can withstand such a great pressure.

If the shell of Germany is not crushed before next spring, then the end will come suddenly. She will be overwhelmed by the airplanes of the allies. That seems now to be the plan—to so harass her that she will not have a breathing spell until we can prepare fifty thousand airplanes or a hundred thousand. It is then all over, and we are getting the planes. We are making tools to turn them out by the thousands every week, and we are training men to handle them. A cloud of aviators will finish the job next spring if it isn't finished in the meantime.

An Italian journalist says the Kaiser is the most accomplished cook in Europe. Possibly she has forgotten the time when Wilhelm could not by divine right, force the cook to stick to the job.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Did You Know

That "El Dorado" means "the gilded man?" When the Spauldars had conquered Mexico and Peru they began to look for new sources of wealth, and having heard of a golden city ruled by a king anointed with oil and rolled in gold dust, they organized various expeditions into the interior of South America in search of this golden land. Although this search was futile; the existence of this land continued to be believed in till the middle of the eighteenth century, so that the phrase has become a synonym for a land abounding in gold and precious stones, and as such was applied to California in the days of the gold fever.

VALLANDIGHAM

By J. FRANK DAVIS

Who was Clement L. Vallandigham?

You cannot answer this question—at least, not more than one out of a thousand readers can.

Yet Clement L. Vallandigham was quite a well-known figure in America in his day. He is almost completely forgotten now, which is as it should be. The good excuse for resurrecting him in these words is to emphasize the happy fact that we do not need to worry too much about the dubious loyalty of a few of our national representatives in congress.

Vallandigham was a member of congress from Ohio. There are members of congress today, not from Ohio, whose words and conduct entitle them to be called the Vallandighams of this war.

Patriotic men are exasperated with them, fearful of what effect their more or less disguised disloyalty may have on our participation in the civil war, the battle for democracy. In what happened to Vallandigham, and what has since happened to the memory of Vallandigham, is some save for this exasperation; some answer to these fears.

Vallandigham was a sympathizer with the Southern Confederacy. He did what he could to help the southern cause. If he had done it, in the armies of the south, or in the councils of the south, his aid would have been honest loyalty to a belief. But he did it in the Union, where it was disloyalty.

He was a shrewd politician, as are some of the German sympathizers of our modern day. He had a sympathetic constituency, again like some politicians who are obstructing the war to the best of their ability in 1917. In May, 1863, when the north was passing through dark days and every Unionist was straining his hardest to express his patriotism, Vallandigham denounced President Lincoln in a speech, declaring that his hearers should "come up together at the ballot box and hurl the tyrant from the throne."

He was arrested, tried by a military commission and sentenced to be confined in a fortress for the duration of the war. President Lincoln commuted this sentence and ordered that he be turned over to his own friends in the Confederate States. He was at once taken to Murfreesboro, Tenn., where he was sent through the lines under a flag of truce and presented to the Confederates with the compliments of the people to whose cause he had been disloyal.

But this didn't satisfy him any more than it would satisfy certain of our own statesmen if they could be deported into Germany. He demanded of the Confederates that they make him a prisoner of war; they declined to do any such thing, or in any other way help him become a martyr. Soldiers do not respect disloyalty. He made his way to Bermuda and sailed to Canada. President Lincoln, when it was reported Vallandigham was about to cross the border into this country, refused to get excited about it, saying the people could be depended upon. He was right; they could.

Vallandigham ran for governor of Ohio, seeking vindication. He thought—as perhaps some of our modern Vallandighams think would be the case if they had to submit their cases to the judgment of their constituents—that his public would back him. He was defeated by over 100,000 majority—such a majority as Ohio had never before witnessed.

The wages of his disloyalty were banishment and disfavor, and the fate of those speedily forgotten except by those who remembered him only to scorn him as one who was against his own country in its day of need.

There is cheer for all good Americans in recalling this bit of ancient history. It reminds us, when our few wilful senators and congressmen do their bit for the Kaiser by obstructing imperative war legislation, that our generation is not unique in such a respect; in 1863 the government also had dangerous friends of the enemy in powerful places. And it assures us that, in the fullest of time, they will probably meet their just deserts. It may not be practical, with Lincolnian humor, to push them over into Germany and tell the enemy whom they are serving, that he is welcome to them, but at least we can be assured, when the names of good Americans are being repeated in a later and happier day, that theirs will be quite forgotten.

Congressman may mean well, yet be no more serviceable to her country in a crisis than a blind kitten.—Louisville Courier.

Books for the Soldiers.

The young men in the trenches will not be thankful for "improving" literature. What they will need is something to cause them to forget the discomfort of the cold and the mud and the disks of the next hour. They want their minds taken off of the present and transported for the time to a more cheerful realm. A good detective story might do it, or a book of adventure.—Indianapolis Star.

Plattsburgh.

It is to the everlasting credit of the American people that they themselves are entirely responsible for the Plattsburgh idea. Its origin was what the evolutionists call spontaneous. The chronicle will not reveal that any individual broached it. We know, though, the American whose energy, foresight, receptiveness for a great idea and genius for execution, from his position of authority, contrived more than any other single effort to the creation of the Plattsburgh camps—Major Gen. Leonard Wood, United States Army, at the time commanding the Eastern department.—Providence Journal.

PREPARING THE GROUND FOR WINTER

Author of "Around the Year in the Garden," "Home Vegetable Gardening," Etc.

Copyright 1917 by W. Atlee Burpee & Co., Seed Growers, Philadelphia

The old saying that "You cannot eat your cake and have it, too," does not altogether apply in the garden. Or, to put it differently, if you handle your garden in the right way in the fall you can get a lot of the raw plant foods which it contains "cooked-up" and ready for your crops to use next season; and also save the next season's use the "left-overs" that otherwise would go to waste from the plant foods you applied this year.

The plant food in the soil exists in two forms—called "available" and "unavailable." This simply means that the plant food that is termed available is in such forms that the roots of growing plants can make immediate use of it, while that termed unavailable is in such condition that it has to undergo chemical changes before the plants can take it up.

To make the matter plain for the beginner we may say that the unavailable plant foods in the soil correspond to the materials of various kinds which the cook may have in the kitchen cupboard—flour, rice, lima beans, spaghetti, etc. These are all "foods" but not available for human use until after they have been changed by cooking. The parallel may be carried a step farther in that, after they have been prepared, they cannot be kept indefinitely, and unless made use of a large percentage of them will be lost or wasted.

During the fall, winter, and early spring a great deal of the plant food in soil that is left bare is carried away in the surface washing and in the drainage water resulting from rains and from melting snows. In the case of nitrogen, which is the most valuable of the three plant foods most likely to be "short" in any soil—nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash—further loss is occasioned by its passing off into the air. One of the gardener's most important problems, therefore, is to save what there may be left of these available plant foods at the end of the season for another year. And, like the surplus foods in the kitchen they may be saved by "canning."

It may at first glance seem a rather difficult problem to can an invisible something hidden away in a foot or so of garden soil which it would take an expert chemical analysis to find. But in reality it is much easier than the kind of canning you do in the kitchen. By planting a crop that will grow through the winter and early spring the surplus available foods will be stored up in the roots, stems and leaves of the growing plants, and when these are plowed or spaded under in the spring and decompose, you get your plant foods back again, ready for use by the vegetables you plant next spring. In addition you fill your garden soil with "humus," or vegetable matter, which is almost as essential for the healthy, vigorous growth of your plants as having plenty of plant food in the soil. Humus keeps the soil broken up and porous and absorbs the surplus moisture, storing it up for the future needs of the growing plants during dry weather.

For these reasons you can readily see that the sowing of winter or cover crops on every square foot of your garden left uncovered before freezing weather is not merely a hobby, but just about as important as putting manure on your garden in the spring. In latitudes north of Philadelphia, the best crops to sow for this purpose are rye and winter vetch. South of Philadelphia either these or crimson clover may be used. Both the vetch and the clover are "legumes" and not only conserve plant food as described above but gather nitrogen from the air, actually, enriching the garden soil on which they grow. The earlier these can be sown the more growth they will make before the ground freezes up. The best way is to have enough seed on hand and sow each patch of ground as soon as it is available, instead of waiting until you can clear off all of the garden. Next spring the parts which were sown last can be left for late crops, such as melons and beans, so that the cover crops will have more of a chance to grow. The clover can be sown any time up to the first week of September, and the rye and vetch until early frost.

Too many gardeners make the mistake of leaving all the cleaning up there may be to be done in the garden until spring. Dead vines, bad fruits, brush, tomato poles, etc., are left where they are. This not only makes a disreputable looking garden through the winter and early spring, but furnishes the very finest kind of a winter resort for every bug, beetle and blight spore on the list that requires special quarters for "wintering over." Make the slogan of the last week's work in the garden out-of-doors before freezing weather comes—"Clean-up and burn." Don't be tempted, as it is sometimes advised, to use the leaves, weeds and refuse from your garden for the compost heap. It is true they will help make humus but they may also help make trouble. Pieces of soil, fallen leaves and material of that kind may be rotted up with manure if you have it to increase the fertility of your garden next spring, but burn everything which by chance may carry over trouble for another year.

There is another opportunity to make your garden for next year better by giving it an extra deep spading up this fall. If it is a small one and usually spaded or forked up, you can go over it now and dig it several inches deeper than usual by throwing the soil out of the first row and then digging up the soil below that, turning it over and breaking it up where it is. The soil from the next row, if thrown on top of this, will leave another strip of the subsoil uncovered so that it can be broken up. This trenching, or subsoiling of the garden not only gives more room for the roots of your plants to gather their food in, but also makes it possible to "work" it much sooner in the spring, as the improved drainage enables it to dry out more rapidly.

SOUTHERN CORN BREAD RECIPE

Columbus, Aug. 24.—The Ohio Defense Council today issued the following bulletin on how citizens can assist the United States in winning the war:

"Save the wheat," says Herbert Hoover, the nation's food controller. "Cornbread once a week will help. Not that it's any cheaper. But wheat bread can be made and transported easily—which makes it a military necessity for our boys and the men in the allied armies fighting Germany."

"Here's a good old southern corn bread recipe: try it:
"Two cups corn meal; 1 1/2 cups thick sour milk; 2-4 teaspoon soda; one teaspoon salt; one egg; and three teaspoons melted lard dripping. Beat egg in mixing bowl, add milk, sift in meal with soda and salt and add melted fat. Beat quickly until well-mixed; pour into hot, well-greased pan and bake in moderately hot oven. Cut in squares and serve hot. Egg may be omitted."

SCOTLAND HEIRS ASK PARTITION OF PROPERTY HERE

An interesting petition was filed in the court of common pleas by Messrs. Kibler & Kibler, today, whose clients reside near Glasgow, Scotland, and which relates to property in Granville street, near Seventh.

The property in question was owned by Robert McLeod, who died May 24, 1871, leaving a will which devised same to his stepmother, Catherine McLeod, during her natural life and at her death it was to go to a second cousin of the devisee, residing in Scotland, also named Robert McLeod.

Catherine McLeod died in July, 1911, and later the property was bought in for unpaid taxes, the purchaser retaining possession up to the date of the filing of this suit. The second Robert McLeod died leaving two daughters and they are living at Keith, Scotland, and they ask that a partition of the property be made and that they be awarded their share in the property which had been willed to their late father by his American cousin. The property in question has a frontage of about 76 feet.

How Draft Army Will Be Called Into Service by Local Boards

Commander Will Be Chosen From Each Contingent and Will Be In Charge Until the Party Safely Arrives at Camp

Five Alternates Will Be Named From Each Registration District and Will Be Held In Case Any Fails to Show Up

Either the mailing of notice or the posting of the list containing his name as prescribed herein shall constitute the giving of notice to each of the persons named on the lists so posted and shall charge each of such persons with notice that he has been selected for military service and that he has been ordered to hold himself in readiness to report for military duty at a time and place specified in a notice to be posted in the office of the local board.

Upon notice from the provost marshal general to furnish at a specified time or times the net quota of the state or any proportion thereof the adjutant general of each local board shall give timely notice to each local board in the state from which any part of the state quota is to be called to assemble for transportation to the mobilization camp to which the particular local board is to furnish men.

Boards to Assemble Men.

Upon the receipt of notice from the adjutant general of the state to assemble a specified number of selected men at a convenient point of entrainment, not later than a time specified in such notice each local board shall determine the hour and place of entrainment under instructions from the adjutant general of the state. The board shall forthwith make from the names on all the lists referred to in sections 2 and 3 hereof, which have been posted by the local board as prescribed in section 3 hereof, a list of names of the exact number of men required by the adjutant general, to be furnished as prescribed in section 4 hereof.

The list shall contain an order to the selected men named therein to report to the local board for military duty at the office of the board and at an hour and date named by the local board in the notice, which named hour shall be between 8 and 5 p. m. and not more than twenty-four hours nor less than twelve hours in advance of the hour of entrainment on the date specified by the adjutant general of the state for entrainment.

The local board shall at the same time, by mail directed to the detailed addresses of the men so ordered to report to the local board for military duty, notify each man whose name is contained in the lists so posted that he is ordered to report to the local board for military duty at the time and place specified in the list so posted. From the time specified for reporting to the local board for military duty each man in respect of whom notice to report has been posted or mailed shall be in the military service of the United States.

Subsistence and Lodging.

In ample time prior to the date upon which selected men are ordered by the local board to report for military duty the local board should make arrangements with hotels, restaurants or lodging houses in the vicinity of the office of the board for the accommodation of the number of selected men who are to be under the orders of the local board during the period preceding the hour of entrainment and who have not received permission from the local board to spend that time at home. Meal and lodging tickets will be furnished local boards for this purpose, and the arrangements should include an agreement on the part of such hotels, restaurants or lodging houses to accept, in payment for subsistence and lodging, meal tickets redeemable in cash at the office of a distributing officer of the war department.

In ample time to allow for their careful and accurate preparation before the date specified by the adjutant general for entrainment each local board shall prepare the papers that must be sent to the mobilization camp.

The local board will, except on the last installment of the quota, personally notify at least five other selected men to report to the local board at the hour and on the day specified. These additional men are intended to serve as alternates in case any of the men notified fail to report as directed and in order that the local board may not be placed in the position of failing to entrain the exact number of men called for with the promptness and precision that should characterize all matters relating to the formation of the armies of the United States.

Assembly of Men.

At the time and place specified on the lists for the selected men to report for military duty the local board will itself be present and should be attended by a number of reliable assistants sufficient to perform the duties herein-after prescribed.

Each assistant should be provided with a memorandum showing one lodging house and the precise number of men to be accommodated there. As the men report they will be checked off the list of those ordered to report and the hour at which each man reported will be noted thereon. Alternates will also be checked off on the memorandum to report and the hour at which each man reports.

As soon as the number of men to be lodged in any one house have reported the assistant who has the memorandum for that house shall note a memorandum of the names of the men assigned to that house and shall leave a copy of the memorandum with the local board.

He shall cause the men whose names are so noted to form a line, and the local board shall instruct them by order of the provost marshal general:

First.—That they must report in person at 5:30 p. m. to the local board for retreat roll call.

Second.—That they are to report in person to the local board at a specified hour on the day of entrainment, which hour shall be fixed by the local board at least forty-five minutes before train time, plus a sufficient time to reach the railroad station from the office of the local board.

Third.—That they are now in the military service of the United States and that unpunctuality and failure to report are grave military offenses in time of war.

Fourth.—That after they have been conducted to the assigned lodging house they are at liberty until the hour of retreat roll call at 5:30 p. m., when all must be present at the office of the local board.

The assistant shall then personally conduct the group of men to the assigned lodging house and remain with them until each of them is assigned a bed and is informed about meal hours and sanitary arrangements.

He should personally inspect the accommodations furnished to insure that they are satisfactory and in complete compliance with the agreement made.

Retreat Roll Call.

At retreat roll call at 5:30 p. m. the members of the board should again be present. The roll of selected men who are to be entrained on the next day should be called from the list, and the roll of alternates should be called from the memorandum of alternates, and any absent men (not alternates) should be promptly sought out and a statement of their delinquency written and forwarded with the papers.

The board should then designate one member of the party who, in the opinion of the board, is best fitted by reason of experience, age, character and personality to be in charge of the party from that time until arrival at mobilization camp. This person will be instructed to be at the office of the local board next day before the hour specified for the rest of the party to be there.

Final Assembly.

Upon the arrival at the office of the local board of the selected men of the party and the alternates the person so placed in charge will promptly at the hour specified for assembly and under the supervision of the board cause the assembled men to form in line and will call the roll from the list and the memorandum of alternates, causing each man to answer "Here" as his name is called and to take one step forward.

Thereafter the men will be required to remain in one group except as it may be necessary to break up the group for transportation, and no man will be allowed to leave the group without permission.

The local board will caution the men that the person designated is in command of the party, that it is their military duty to obey his orders and instructions and that disobedience of orders is the most serious of all military crimes. The local board will then inspect the party to see that nothing except light hand baggage is carried.

The person designated will then, under the supervision of the board, designate a second in command, to take charge of the party during any necessary absence of himself, and will conduct the party to the railroad station.

At the railroad station the board will present a transportation request to the ticket agent and obtain the necessary number of railroad tickets for the number of men who will actually compose the party. Fifteen minutes before train time the roll will again be called from the list only. If any men are absent their names will be canceled from the list, their cards and reports of physical examination will be removed from the group of cards and reports, and the names of a sufficient number of alternates to fill the deficiency will be written, and their cards and reports of physical examination will be inserted.

Duties of Commanders.

Upon arrival of the train the person designated as in charge of the party will supervise the entrainment, if necessary dividing the party into two groups, one under charge of himself and one under his assistant.

He will himself keep in his personal possession the railroad and meal tickets of the party. He will accompany the conductor through the train, identify the men of his party and furnish the necessary tickets. He will likewise make the necessary arrangements at eating places. Identify the members of his party and furnish the purveyor of meals with meal tickets for meals actually furnished.

He will make frequent inspections of the cars and will take every precaution to see that no liquor is furnished to the men of his party and that none of his party is left at stops along the road.

Account of Quotas at Camps.

At each mobilization camp there will be kept an account of quotas with each local board which furnishes selected men to that mobilization camp, showing the balance of the net quota due at the end of each third of each month. Separate sheets will be kept for each state from which men are sent to the mobilization camp. Only men actually reporting and finally accepted as physically qualified for military service will be entered on the account as credited to the quota of any local board. The entries in the direct columns will be made under the date on which the list was certified back to the local board and from the totals reported on the list to the local board as accepted.

AUDITORIUM.

Tonight.

The Auditorium theater today should not be able to hold the crowds, for William Fox offers his two Baby Grands, those clever kids, Jane and Katherine Lee, who are seen in "The Two Little Imps" the picture. You perhaps wonder why they are called "Baby Grands." That's what they are, the Baby Grands of the screen. They have won thousands of admirers in small parts and now they are real stars. Mothers of your kids did not see "The Two Imps" when here before, you should see them today. In addition to the screenings today, in addition to the feature, we also offer the Fox Super De Luxe masterpiece with that famous screen star Theda Bara in "The Darlings of Paris." This play was taken from Victor Hugo's great story the "Hunchback of Notre Dame." This is a scenic production, some of the scenes that show Theda on the stand in the courtroom and stretched on chains in the torture chamber are not alluringly pleasant, but its thrilling from start to finish, and in all both pictures make an extraordinary program.

Peck's Bad Boy. The seats were placed on sale today for "Peck's Bad Boy" and it is surprising to see how many already have purchased their seats for this musical show that comes to the Auditorium Saturday afternoon and evening. This is sure a groom chaser, for there is the Bad Boy and his chum, the Bad Boy's girl, his Ma and his Pa and the German grocer Shultz, a character that always is funny, and the one that the bad boy plays, so many tricks on "Peck's Bad Boy" should play to crowded houses both afternoon and evening tomorrow, for who if they haven't seen the play, has not read the book? The company is a good one, with special scenery effects, etc. The music and songs are of the kind that will charm and bewitch the listener's ear, and the only problem in this great production is how to stop laughing. Tomorrow's matinee will be a popular one, children being admitted to all parts of the house for ten cents, adults twenty cents; at night popular prices will prevail. Seats now selling.

Arbuckle will be seen in his latest two reel comedy "His Wedding Night."

Notes. The amazing picture "The Tanks at The Battle of the Ancre" (official government picture of the war) have been booked by the Auditorium for an early showing. These pictures have broken records in every theatre that it has been shown—at Cincinnati a week or

A Trio of Peaches with "Peck's Bad Boy" Tomorrow Afternoon and Evening at Auditorium Theatre.

Wife No. 2. In "Wife Number Two" the Sunday photoplay attraction at the Auditorium you will see Valeska Suratt at her best. Not only does this William Fox production give the famous actress an opportunity to display more of those rare and beautiful creations which have won her the title of "Empress of Fashion," but it has a story of universal appeal.

The theme of "Wife Number Two" is this. A young girl, pretty and full of life, is married to an elderly physician, a widower. His every interest is in his practice. His mother has never forgotten the virtues of his first wife nor does she hesitate to tell her daughter about them. The girl's youthful longing for pleasure seems wicked to this woman. The story is full of action.

As an extra added feature "Fatty" so ago, the traffic in front of the Grand opera house was forced to stop—the same existing at Omaha, Chicago, Indianapolis, New York, and last week at Newark.

In one of the most charming stories in which she has yet appeared Miss Virginia Martin will be seen at the Auditorium on next Monday and Tuesday in the Pallas-Paramount production, "A Kiss for Susie," supported by a cast of unusual excellence. Pallas News Weekly is also seen.

In the Lasky-Paramount production "The Crystal Gazer," which will be seen at the Auditorium on next week with the popular star, Fannie Ward in the principal role, three distinct characters are played by Miss Ward. She is seen as the mother and two daughters, and in the latter part of the production one girl rescues the other from a burning building. How this is accomplished is one of the most unusual and spectacular incidents ever seen on the screen.

ALHAMBRA.

Sunday. Virginia Valli appears as Bryant Washburn's leading woman in his latest Essanay feature "The Golden Idol." Miss Valli won the critics' plaudits for the role of Ixana in "Filling His Own Shoes" and has done creditable work in numerous other Essanays. She is an expert swimmer and, in the current production, performs some diving feats which rival the great Annette Kellerman's famous plunges. Incidentally, she is one of the most beautiful girls in all of Essanay's galaxy of beauty.

AMERICANS DON'T LIKE DIGGING; THEY'D RATHER HAVE SCRAP

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
American Training Camp in France, Aug. 24.—One of the greatest problems American officers have before them is impressing upon their men the absolute importance of learning the best ways of keeping under cover. The American soldier is not a natural "digger-in." He is much like his Canadian brother in arms in that respect for it is an old saying on the British front that Canadians will die in the last ditch but never dig it.

It is the American spirit as it was that of the Canadians to up-stake and fight, but the world war has long since passed that stage and now in the long weary and worry of a struggle of attrition the best commander is one who best conserves his men by keeping them under cover. One of the great reasons why the Germans are still in France and Belgium is their wonderful facility for digging-in.

The German belief that they can dig faster than a modern army can advance is one of the principles of their defensive tactics. Notwithstanding all that has been told along this line, notwithstanding the heroic efforts to rouse his enthusiasm over the pick and shovel, the American soldier has remained decidedly lukewarm. He can dig, but he does not dig a hole and look at them through a spy glass. The French, Canadian and Australian soldiers all resent the idea of digging-in and would not admit the necessity of doing so until bitter losses taught them a dearly bought lesson.

The passion for digging-in so strong with the Germans that they have been known desperately to claw holes in the ground with their hands till the ends of their fingers were practically worn off. Thus some were found dead. Others, taken prisoners, had to be sent to the hospital with all their finger nails gone.

TAYLOR WINS MATCH IN CHICAGO SHOOT; GOOD SCORES MADE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Chicago, Aug. 24.—The concluding events of the Grand American Trap Shooting Tournament were staged today after intermittent rains during the past three days had caused delays which somewhat disjoined the scheduled.

The Grand American Handicap, the premier event of the meet, was only partly shot off yesterday, Mark Arie of Thomasboro, Ill., V. K. Francis of Drumright, Okla., Ray Buchanan of Duluth, Minn., and Frank Hale of Mitchell, S. D., being tied with a score of 75 each. This event was the first called when the shoot was resumed today.

In the professional event of 100 targets from the 16-foot rise, the targets being thrown from 50 to 70 yards, Homer Clark, Alton, Ill.; George Maxwell, Hastings, Neb.; W. R. Crosby, O'Fallon, Ill., and H. D. Gibbs, Union City, Tenn., are to meet for championship honors.

John R. Taylor of Newark, O., defeated Lester German of Aberdeen, Md., in a special event of 100 targets from the 16-foot rise. In an exhibition event, Mrs. Tompkins of Houston, Tex., broke 91 targets out of 100 from the 16-yard mark.

Among the concluding events today were the consolation handicap, a 100-target shoot for those who failed to qualify either in the preliminary or the grand American, and several professional matches.

The winner of the Grand American Handicap receives $782.40 and a trophy, the runner-up $704.15 and a trophy, and the remaining 48 of the money-winners will receive proportionate amounts.

MAKE YOURSELF STRONGER

People with strong constitutions escape many minor ills that make life miserable for others. Don't you envy the friend who does not know what a headache is, whose digestion is perfect and sleep undisturbed?

How far do you come from this description and have you ever made an earnest effort to strengthen your constitution, to build up your system to ward off disease and discomfort?

Everyone cannot have perfect health, but unless you have an organic disease it is generally possible to improve your physical condition by attention to the rules of health, the first of which is to keep the blood built up.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People contain just the elements needed to build up the blood and restore the lost color and vitality. New energy circulates through the system with the enriched blood, the heart stops its alarming palpitations, color returns to cheeks and lips.

Nothing more is needed except sunlight, good air, proper food and rest. If you do not know exactly what rules to follow in these matters write today to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for booklets on the blood and diet. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Alkali in Soap Bad For the Hair

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsumed coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use. One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsumed coconut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

EFFICIENT SAVING

ONE MAY BE A GOOD SAVER AND A POOR INVESTOR.

MANY WHO HAVE SAVED HAVE STILL LIVED THEIR LAST DAYS IN POVERTY

FOR THE LACK OF KNOWING HOW TO INVEST THEIR SAVINGS PROPERLY.

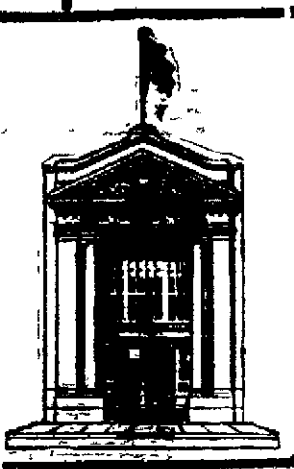

Most business men lose heavily on investments made outside of their own business. The average wage earner loses a large share of his precious savings in various forms of wild cat and get rich quick investments.

The percentage of loss suffered by those who have put their money into standard old line life insurance companies is almost negligible. No business man with miscellaneous interests, no investor in stocks and bonds, no dealer in real estate, can show so small a percentage of losses as are entailed by those who put their money into high grade life insurance.

FURNITURE MARRED. When you go to move do you think about who you are going to get to handle your household goods, or do you get the first one you come to. The handling of furniture is a particular one and requires a great deal of care or at least great care should be taken to move it with the least possible damage to it. It is a source of great annoyance to have a beautiful dresser, table or stand marred by scratches and besides it is not at all necessary. If you will tell Phil Vogelmeier or call 1741 auto phone the next time you move he will see that your household goods receive the proper care in hauling. See that they are delivered carefully.

ENDEAVOR RALLY AT HOPEWELL CHURCH

Olive, Amsterdam and Jacksonville United Brethren churches will hold a union Christian Endeavor rally at the Hopewell (Coladale) church next Sunday evening, August 26. The meeting will be led by the pastor, Edwin M. Larson, and an auto truck load and five auto loads will be present from Jacksonville and Amsterdam, while many will come from the other two churches. After the rally, the church will be reorganized and re-established with regular preaching. Sunday school and C. E. society work, and the appointment added to the Mt. Olive circuit.

GET HIGHEST PRICE

The threshing season is on and a great deal of care is necessary to see that your grain is properly cleaned and not too much placed in a bin to cause it to heat and spoil. Every effort should be made to save all the grain you can. The better grades will of course command the highest price. When you begin to market your grain you should consult Morgan and Roberts at 22 Canal street, who have had years of experience and who watch the conditions of the market and will protect you. They always pay the highest market prices for your hay, grain and wool.

CATHOLIC WOMEN GIVE 50 SHIRTS TO RED CROSS

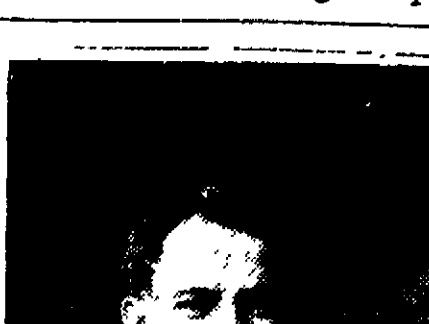

The ladies of St. Francis de Sales church gave into the Red Cross, Tuesday, 50 hospital shirts—their work of the past few weeks. In the pocket of each shirt, with a handkerchief, was put the following beautiful little poem:

God hath not promised
 Skies ever blue.
 Flower strewn pathways,
 Always for you.

God hath not promised
 Sun without rain,
 Joy without sorrow,
 Peace without pain.

But God hath promised
 Strength from above,
 Unfailing sympathy,
 Undying love.

DOCTORS HAND OUT LIVE TIPS

THEY TAKE THE PUBLIC INTO THEIR CONFIDENCE.

Prominent physicians claim people fail in life because of "nervous hunger" that it is the active bright-eyed, strong nerved man or woman who is "there" at work or play.

Strong, well nourished nerves is the great secret of success, health and happiness.

Men and women try to live regardless of health, strength, ambition, energy and hope, they exceed the speed limits, wasting nerve strength and energy and fail to store up reserve force, afterwards they only exist, life has no joys.

Without energy, ambition, strong nerves, and pure blood one cannot hope to enjoy the fullest measure of success and happiness.

A noted specialist says, "Phosphated Iron brings strength to the blood, nerves and brain, that it is a perfect combination of vital elements of great tonic qualities when taken by 'Nerve-sick humans', that it will increase body and nerve energy, restore ambition and staying powers."

He also says: "If you are the victim of overwork, worry, excess of mental and physical forces, have the blues, and the pleasures of life are no longer enjoyable, that you need Phosphated Iron to brace, build you up and put you on your feet again."

Special Notice.—To insure physicians and their patients getting the genuine Phosphated Iron we put up in capsules only, so do not allow dealers to substitute any pills or tablets. Evans' Drug Store and leading druggists everywhere.

REAL GOOD STORY LEAKED OUT HERE

Way It Reached the Public Told by Parties Having Inside Information.

For several months Calle Dunaway, 29 E. Harrison street, Newark, was kept pretty busy fighting for her health. A bad liver and stomach, she says, about used up all the strength she could command. Fortunately she put her trust in Tanlac.

She said Thursday: "My trouble for many months was indigestion and timid liver. When I ate I had misery and would turn sick at my stomach. Gas in my stomach pressed against my heart; it would slow up and then jump. I couldn't get a deep breath sometimes. I had a bad taste in my mouth, tongue was brown and I had dizzy spells; tiny specks danced before my eyes. Was hard to tell which made me suffer most—my liver or my stomach."

"I am glad to tell all there isn't anything wrong with my health now. Tanlac made me feel fine every way. My appetite is so good I eat three hearty meals and my digestion takes care of them lovely. My liver never did act so fine. All the coat is off my tongue and the bad taste is gone. I never feel dizzy and don't tire out. Work is a pleasure now, for I feel so strong Tanlac is my medicine in the future."

Tanlar, the new vegetable tonic, stomachic, combatant and invigorant, is being specially introduced at Erman's Arcade drug store, where the Tanlac man gives the particulars to steadily growing crowds daily.

Tanlac may also be procured at the Evans pharmacy, Warden Hotel building, east side square; at the Hebron drug store, Hebron; the P. H. Richardson pharmacy, Utica. Tanlac is a guaranteed preparation.

TO GAIN FLESH

A PHYSICIAN'S ADVICE

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing the arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evident thousands of men and women who are really suffering from excessive thinness, and it is therefore a real pleasure to publish herewith a simple prescription which by correcting faulty metabolism and stimulating the activity of certain sluggish vital organs, quickly produces a marvelous transformation in appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

The prescription, which is absolutely harmless, is to take a 5-grain tablet of Bitro-Phosphol, such as you may obtain from any druggist at a trifling cost. Eat of what you want, but chew your food thoroughly.

A DALZELL USER COMES TO FRONT FOR NERV-WORTH

Mrs. King Praises Tonic. So Does J. W. Farley of Marietta.

These two most convincing statements were very recently made in writing to Will S. Richardson, the Marietta Nerv-Worth druggist:

"I can truthfully say I have used one bottle of Nerv-Worth and the benefits I received HAVE BEEN WONDERFUL. And I would gladly recommend it to anyone in as nervous condition as I was."

"MRS. CLARK KING, 'Dalzell, Ohio.'"

Now note what J. W. Farley of this city wrote to Druggist Richardson:

"I have suffered greatly with stomach trouble and nervousness for some time. After taking one bottle of Nerv-Worth I feel greatly improved. I WOULD ADVISE ALL SUFFERERS TO TRY A BOTTLE OF NERV-WORTH."

Druggist T. J. Evans sells Nerv-Worth in Newark. Your dollar back if it does not do for you what it has done for thousands of others.

MILITARY TRAINING
OFFERED AT DENISON
UNDER LIVINGSTON

Editor of the Advocate:—I have been greatly interested in the work of the Newark Advocate in making provision for the bronze service medals for the boys who go from Licking county. It is only one more indication of the patriotic service rendered by the Newark Advocate. The college is lending every effort toward making its contribution toward the war most effective. We are sending our boys in such numbers that we are dangerously approaching the point where our life blood will be drained away. But the college stands ready to pay the supreme sacrifice if necessary. Indeed, we are ready to close our doors for a time, if by so doing we can render the greatest service to the country. At present it is our full intention to proceed with our work of training young men to the best of our ability. Many of our courses will be recast so as to make them particularly applicable to the times. We shall offer military training. Many colleges in Ohio are unable at this time to secure a man competent to give military training. Prof. Livingston has just returned from the University of Chicago where he went to take courses in military training, so that the college is well prepared this year to do this work in a thorough-going way. Very sincerely yours,
C. W. Chamberlain.

Granville

(Special to Advocate) — Granville, O., Aug. 24.—Another Granville land mark has yielded to the march of progress. The old Mitchell homestead which has stood on the corner of Maple and Mulberry streets for more years than any one remembers, is to be replaced by a modern house. Albert Guckert has bought the entire property and it is said will erect two houses where only one stood before. The work of demolition is almost complete and the quaint old house is now only a memory. Miss Judith Nichols whose marriage to Mr. Hugh Campbell is to be solemnized on Saturday afternoon, is honor guest at a delightful garden party which is given this afternoon by Miss Addie Slack and Miss Mame Geach on the grounds of the Slack residence in Cedar street. The guests who are all close friends of the bride-to-be brought offerings of love and good will, appropriate for a new housekeeper, which were presented in an original manner. Among those present are Mrs. T. G. Field, Mrs. Oscar Arnold, New York City, Mrs. Cleveland Cleveland, Mrs. Ben Woodbury, Mrs. Theodore Johnson, Miss Claire Geach, Miss Lily Belle
